Why do Catholics do that??

Why does the Priest wash his hands at the altar?

The part of the Mass called the Lavabo, taken from the Latin words of the prayer that the priest says quietly while washing his hands: "Lord, wash away my iniquity; cleanse me from my sin," carries both a practical and spiritual meaning."

In earlier centuries, the washing had a practical purpose as the priest would handle offerings of food and even animals for the poor and the Church and would need to physically wash his hands. Over time, the practical action remained, but its spiritual symbolism became even more important.

The washing of hands symbolizes purification and interior preparation before entering the most sacred part of the Mass, the Eucharistic sacrifice. The priest is preparing to handle the Body and Blood of Jesus Christ.

Spiritually speaking, the gesture expresses humility and the desire for purity before God. This action also reminds the faithful that approaching God requires repentance and sincerity of heart. The Mass is not only an outward ritual; it calls for interior conversion and holiness.

Voices from McCartan Families

How has your child grown- Spiritually, academically, personally, since attending Father McCartan?

"I feel our children are really succeeding at Fr McCartan. Their teachers always push them to do their best. It's always great when the other people come up to you and say that your child is a really great kid and I know that part of that is because of Fr. McCartan." -Whitney Teeter
